Dear Doctor

I wish I could write you with less uncertainty about E. cuneifol ~~glauca~~ since I don't find any thing in my bundles that I am quite sure of although I believe the enclosed bit to be that. It was got at Jacksonville. It grows up the river but not here. I think you will find something in my No in NYark that I took to be that & in my view quite distinct from E. tortifol. However do as you like - its your fight

As I used to see E. cuneif it was & tall 2-3 ft or more branching with broad cuneate leaves. & text is low (12-18') simple except to form a compound corymb & growing in clusters. I wrote to Katie & told her & Mr C what you said (you & Mrs Gray) Thank you both for my share & same to you

Yrs Truly
